

Metrotile Vixen

This striking profile design offers a hand-split wooden shingle effect that brings elegant aesthetics to any rooftop.

The inspiration for the Vixen is to be found in the uniqueness of the ancient Viking architectural style. Used in building construction, their homes and other edifices were built entirely from wood, onto which small roof shingles were then applied extensively.

The hand-split wood pattern imparts an individual and rustic character to each building.

Metrotile Vixen is available in five standard colours, or the colour of your choice (subject to extra lead/stock time). Vixen offers the same benefits from installation to our Forty Year Weatherproof Guarantee and can be installed to a minimum pitch of 12°. It is the ideal profile for those looking for an elegant, highly secure and rapidly installed roofing solution.
